

How Do I Check My Amazon Fire Stick Connection?

Amazon Fire Stick

1. Turn on your Fire TV and go to Settings. You can do this by pressing the right directional button on your remote (the right side of the ring on your remote) until the gear icon is highlighted.

2. Then select Network. You must click the down button (the bottom of the big circle on your remote) to access the Settings options.

3. Next, select your WiFi network. In most cases, this should already be selected. If not, highlight your WiFi network using the up and down directional buttons.

- Then press the Play button on your remote

- Next, select Run Speed Test.

- Then select Continue and wait for the results. Depending on the speed of your WiFi network or any other problems, this might take several minutes to complete.

- Finally, you will see your WiFi speed under Network Download Speed. You will also see more information under Recommendations. This will tell you the maximum resolution you can stream on your Fire TV Stick and any issues your WiFi signal might have.

You can also see more information about your WiFi connection by selecting the “Advanced” button at the bottom of the screen.
